

DEPARTMENT OF RACHANA SHARIR

DEPARTMENTAL PROFILE:

The Department renders a basic foundation by providing sound knowledge of the structure of the human body. Not only a surgeon but also a physician must be well acquainted with the comprehensive details of Anatomy/ Rachana Sharir.

Students are taught Anatomy by means of human cadaveric dissection. The department focuses on developing the dissection skills of the students and trains them to visualize the structures present in the human body.

Along with the latest knowledge of Anatomy, the students are also made aware of the traditional Ayurved concepts of Marma, Kalaa, Naadi, Srotas, etc.

The department is also engaged in Post Graduate (M.D.) and Ph.D. training programmes.
